

HOLBEIN ARTISTS' COLORED PENCIL

WOODEN BOX SET OF 150 COLORS

30th Anniversary
Limited Edition

Holbein Artists' Colored Pencils have been on the market since 1993 and have worked together with many artists. As a commemorative 30th anniversary limited edition, Holbein is releasing the "Wood Box 150 Color Set", a fusion of our commitment to craftsmanship, Japanese materials, and technology. The contemporary design, inspired by a stacked box, makes the product easily fit into any living space. In addition, this product is made of domestic wood and uses pulp mold trays and other environmentally friendly features.

Technology and materials in the service of beauty

Together, the exquisite handiwork of artisans and the beauty of its materials make Holbein Artists' colored pencil Wooden Box a work of art in its own right.

The lid, of natural solid wood, gives the box a unique visual charm. A layered construction of three retractable trays, reminiscent of a stackable boxes, makes it possible to view all 150 colors at once. The edges of the lid and boxes were designed with inclined surfaces, so that they can be smoothly stacked on top of each other.

The trays are made by combining wood from forest-thinning in Hokkaido with recycled paper. Both on the outside and inside of the box, beautiful, colorful lines are fashioned from the properties of this elegant material.

Made in Japan using eco-friendly methods

From the colored pencils to Holbein Artists' Colored Pencil wood box itself, every part of this product is made in Japan, with all production processes performed within the country. Eco-friendly plywood is created from Hokkaido forest-thinned timber and recycled paper, joined with safe, non-formaldehyde adhesive. To make the product as eco-friendly as possible, the inner trays are made of molded pulp fiber and all the packaging and materials were selected to be easily recyclable.
